Prevailing gender inequality is exacerbated during crisis, causing women and girls to be disproportionately impacted, particularly through climate change and forced displacement. Despite these structural barriers, they have a unique expertise to drive solutions. This side-event will demonstrate that gender transformative approaches to climate resilience and anticipatory action in humanitarian and displacement contexts is possible, when local actors, including women, are leading the process.

The conversation will be moderated by Fatima Yamin, Programme Development Specialist at Strengthening Participatory Organization in Pakistan. Following opening remarks by Dylan Winder, the Humanitarian & Protracted Crises Counsellor of the UK Permanent Mission in Geneva, panelists will discuss two gender transformative climate risks (G-CVCA) and anticipatory action (insurance product) models.

Panelists include:
- Ms Liberia Munduru, Deputy Manager Operations at RICE-West Nile, Uganda;
- Ms Bianca Viko, Uriama sub-county Chief, Uganda;
- Ms Lena Schubmann, Programme & Policy Officer, WFP Guatemala.

Location & Date: Virtual, 12:30 p.m. to 2 p.m. CET on June 24

Co-organized by CARE International, Oxfam International, International Rescue Committee, and supported by the UK Mission and World Food Programme.

REGISTER HERE