The first 2021 Reserve Allocation of the Yemen Humanitarian Fund was launched on 1 August. A total of $5.4 million was allocated to UNICEF and WHO to mitigate the negative impact of the fuel crisis on critical water, sanitation and hygiene and health interventions. Funding was disbursed within days, demonstrating the added value of the Fund, ensuring timely and flexible funding as needs arise. The funding will support UNICEF's continued fuel distribution to 34 water facilities in 14 governorates across Yemen. Almost 2.5 million vulnerable people will continue to receive life-saving water. Ensuring access to clean water is critical given the COVID-19 pandemic, the vulnerability of the affected population to cholera and other waterborne diseases, as well as high prevalence of malnutrition.

In addition, the funding will enable WHO to continue the delivery of fuel supply for essential health services, particularly trauma, maternal and child health and critical care (ICU), to at least 206 key medical facilities in 20 Governorates, benefiting five million people seeking in-patient and out-patient care. It will enable health facilities to remain open and run critical life-saving services such as operating theatres and intensive care units.
